Flexible Job Training Program (see attached)	Not submitted to LRB	Doug	High

7/8/05

Flexible Job Training Program - new name?

Concept

- Implement a grant program in the Department of Commerce to provide free or reduced cost training for the employees of companies that create significant numbers of new, high paying jobs or introduce new technologies to retain workers in Wisconsin. ~~These jobs must also have health insurance benefits.~~

Other Details

- A business and technical college would have to submit a joint plan to Commerce. Funding would be distributed to the technical college.
- ~~Commerce shall establish a biennial distribution plan to ensure that all areas of the state benefit from the program.~~ ^{geographic}
- A new appropriation (biennial, GPR) would need to be created in Commerce to fund the initiative at $2.5 M annually.
- Commerce shall promulgate administrative rules for the program including defining "high paying jobs" ~~or health benefits~~.
- Companies that have received or applied for funding from Commerce in the previous 12 months would not be eligible for funding.

Subject: Changes to LRB 05-1614/P1

Chris,

Please make the following changes to LRB 05-1614/P1:

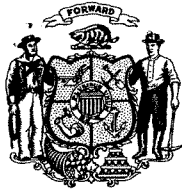

- ✓ 1) Please name the program and appropriation "Training Assistance Grant Program";
- ✓ 2) In addition to "high-paying jobs" and capital investment, allow Commerce to provide a grant if the business applying for the grant will use the funds for training that enables workers to ascend the economic ladder because the company agrees to increase the wages of workers to a "family-supporting" level upon successful completion of the training and there is a career path to future wage increases.
- ✓ 3) The training plan on page 2, lines 11-13, should be developed jointly by the employer and the training provider (not necessarily a technical college).
- ✓ 4) Remove the limitation on page 2, lines 14-15.
- ✓ 5) On page 3, lines 1-3, state that Commerce may pay the proceeds directly to the training provider.
- ✓ 6) Provide that Commerce shall give preference to applications where a Wisconsin technical college would be the training provider.
- ✓ 7) Allow Commerce to make grants for this purpose from the Wisconsin Development Fund (similar to the BEST program).

Regarding your drafter's note, as you may recall, there is no requirement that Commerce develop a biennial distribution plan -- that item was struck by the Governor. Allowing the department to determine what is "a significant number of jobs" is fine.

Thank you for all your help and please let us know if you have any questions.

2005-2006 DRAFTING INSERT
FROM THE
LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE BUREAU

LRB-1614/P2ins
CTS:.....

Insert A:

This bill authorizes the Department of Commerce (department) to make a grant to an employer to provide a job training program for the employer's employees. The department may award a grant to an employer that will create a significant number of new, high-paying jobs in this state or ~~introduces~~ ^{will introduce} new capital investment that will retain a significant number of jobs in this state. The department may also award a grant to an employer for training employees who do not earn a family-supporting wage, if the employer agrees to pay a family-supporting wage to employees who successfully complete the training program and there is significant potential for additional wage increases.

Under the bill, employers must develop training programs jointly with a technical college or other training provider, and grant proceeds may be paid directly to the technical college or other training provider. The department must give preference to employers who develop training programs with a technical college. The bill requires the department to define the terms "capital investment," "family-supporting wage," "high-paying job," and "significant numbers."
